

Vince Fowler, Executive & Business Coach, TEDx Speaker, Bully Buster, Freedom Fighter & Veteran

Vince's mission:

"Exploring the wisdom of past and present to benefit you in the future."

Please note: when Vince has a mission, Vince delivers.

Maybe his focus and clarity in delivering is a result of his military training. Vince was a paratrooper with the Canadian Armed Forces for seven years, including operational experience in war-torn Somalia, where a calm head and focused decisions prevailed.

Possibly his interest in others' success comes from his 20 years of leadership on and off the field in competitive sports. Vince has won rugby championships as both a player and coach, and as head athletic trainer at the Edge School for Athletes he used that experience to push his athletes to new limits, showing them how a bit more energy and focused effort could achieve amazing results.

Or maybe Vince knows how to deliver because he knows what a business might need to improve. His 15 years of experience and success in B2B and B2C sales and service honed his business skills and taught him how to listen, learn, plan and execute!

Each of these experiences would alone make a fabulous leader and coach, but it's the combination of military discipline, business insight and coaching success that makes Vince a triple-threat. It also makes him the guy you want in your corner when looking to maximize your business potential and return on investment.

It may seem contradictory to point out that someone so committed to improving the lives around him believes family comes first – but that's why he's passionate as an Executive Business Coach and Speaker. This proud husband and dedicated father of two believes a business is a vehicle that should enable its owners and team to live their lives on their terms, and not limit them to living their business.

Certified by the some of the world's best coaches and speakers, Vince is the owner and co-founder of Vested Interest Group, the founder of The Measurable Difference (a bi-monthly seminar series for small business and entrepreneurs), and recent TEDx speaker.

Every November, in honour of his serving and fallen comrades, Vince speaks at a number of Calgary schools about the true meaning of Remembrance Day and what it means to live, love and be free.

Family first, Vince and his wife became parent ambassadors for the Alberta Children's Hospital Foundation after they experienced first-hand the near death and critical heart condition of their eight day old son. Living life on purpose, for a purpose, in family and business is key.

"I had the privilege of hearing Vince speak. Vince is a natural story-teller and an engaging speaker and didn't lose my attention even for a minute.

He is candid, intelligent, funny, and has a meaningful and powerful message to share. I walked away from his talk with a new view on my business.

It's amazing how listening to Vince for 30 minutes has had such a profound and positive impact. If you need an excellent speaker for an entrepreneurial, business or sales orientated event, give Vince a call."

— Dawn O'Connor, Think Productive Canada (Calgary, AB)

Mobile: 403.874.7376
eMail: vince@vestedinterestgroup.com
Facebook: www.facebook.com/TheRealVinceFowler
Instagram: www.instagram.com/vincefowler
LinkedIn: https://www.linkedin.com/in/vincefowler
Twitter: http://www.twitter.com/vincefowler
Web: www.vestedinterestgroup.com

VESTED INTEREST GROUP
— PURPOSE. PLAN. RESULTS. —